

AITCHISON COLLEGE MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE VII

Respected Sir/Madam,

On behalf of the students, staff and faculty of Aitchison College, it gives us great pleasure to invite you to the seventh annual Aitchison College Model United Nations Conference (ACMUN VII) being held from the 11th to the 14th of February, 2016.

The Aitchison College Model United Nations Society was established in 2009 as one of the earliest and most successful Model UN societies in Pakistan. Each year, the society welcomes hundreds of delegates from across the country and beyond in hosting its flagship event, the ACMUN conference. This four day event is a mock simulation of the United Nations Organization, serving as a platform where students can step into the shoes of diplomats from various countries. In the process, they become more adept at acquiring various perspectives to an international problem, improve at critical thinking and problem solving, and grow as eloquent and effective speakers. Delegates take part in various UN committees with the aim of solving global issues of relevance. These committees are chaired and run by our most talented students, with a diverse range of experience at MUN conferences, both local and international.

The ACMUN conference has consistently been a resounding success, attracting over 700 delegates each year, some from international institutions, and cementing its place as the largest international high school Model United Nations conference in Lahore, and indeed, one of its kind, in Pakistan. Our students have also been successful in some of the most esteemed MUNs around the world, winning "Best Delegation" awards at conferences such as Harvard Model United Nations, Asian International Model United Nations and Berkely International Model United Nations, among many others.
